“Non-Profit” organizations share 2 key elements with ‘For-Profit’ businesses:

1. Delivery of “services” or “products”, using capital derived from donations, grants, sales, etc.
2. Reliance upon managers & staff to be engaged, motivated & effective in their jobs.

As a non-profit executive or senior manager, one of your ‘key’ responsibilities is on-going training & development of your own management skills as well as those of key staff. You’re probably thinking, “Good grief, I don’t have the time or budget. How do I accomplish this?”

HPI Solutions has developed a Virtual Management Development Program to help non-profit managers & key staff continue their professional development. The Program is unique & unlike any other.

- Sessions are ‘live’, online with a trained professional facilitator.
 - All you need is your computer with a functioning camera & speakers.
 - You will interact with non-profit professionals from other organizations.
 - Sessions are scheduled at regular intervals, normally held on a set day (Tues, Wed or Thurs), on a specific week of the month, no more than 2 hours per session with a total of 42 virtual session hours.
 - In addition to the online classroom experience, you will be part of an assigned team, developing & completing a project that results in either cost savings or process improvements for your organization.
 - Added benefits include a complete personal TriMetrix® assessment and the book, “Crucial Conversations”.
